

Vehicle Service Contract

Protection from the cost of unexpected repairs.

As your vehicle gets older, the risk and the cost of mechanical breakdown increases, often after the factory warranty expires.

Each year, more and more sophisticated technology is built into vehicles, traction control systems to tire pressure monitoring systems. If something goes wrong, repairs are often complex and costly, and those expenses may rise over time. Once you reach the end of your factory warranty, you'll have to pay out of pocket, leaving you vulnerable to a financial shock or shortfall. Fortunately, there is a way to protect yourself.

Up to 12 years
and 100,000 miles
